The Chicago Center for Teaching and Learning is seeking graduate student applicants for the new Graduate Teaching Liaisons program. Graduate Teaching Liaisons support the mission of the CCTL by serving as representatives to and for the CCTL in their academic departments or programs. They help inform the CCTL of teaching needs, interests, and roles in their departments or programs while informing their colleagues of CCTL resources, programs, and opportunities. The Graduate Teaching Liaison role is an ideal way to become involved in a community supporting teaching and learning at the University with a low time commitment.

Role & Responsibilities
Graduate Teaching Liaisons will:

- Attend one meeting each quarter with other Liaisons and CCTL staff on the following dates:
  - Wednesday, October 20, 2:00PM - 3:00PM
  - Wednesday, January 10, 2:00PM - 3:00PM
  - Wednesday, March 20, 2:00PM - 3:00PM
- Share perspectives on CCTL programming and ways of supporting graduate teaching in their departments or programs.
- Share information with colleagues and departments on CCTL programs and events.

Application and Appointment
Graduate Teaching Liaisons are appointed for the academic year. Applicants are accepted based on their interest in supporting teaching and learning and the CCTL’s need for broad departmental representation. This is an unpaid position.

Questions and More Information
Please contact Sam Harris at slharris@uchicago.edu with any questions.