

THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

CHICAGO CENTER FOR TEACHING AND LEARNING

Spring Pedagogy Symposium

Friday, April 26 | Ida Noyes Library

The Chicago Center for Teaching and Learning invites the UChicago community to learn from and talk with a distinguished speaker on higher education pedagogy.

Please join us for a keynote address and a guided discussion over lunch on student self-concept, motivation, and the imposter phenomenon with Dr. Kevin Cokley.

Schedule

11:30AM	Welcome & Keynote Address Feeling Like a Fraud: Imposter Phenomenon, Student Motivation, and Student Achievement
12:45PM	Guided Lunch Discussion Shifting Perspectives: Helping Students Overcome Imposter Phenomenon
1:45PM	Closing Remarks & Conclusion

Registration

Use the following QR code or link below to register and find more information.

bit.ly/springsymp24

Contact

Please contact teaching@uchicago.edu with any questions.

Featuring

Dr. Kevin Cokley

*University Diversity and Social Transformation
Professor of Psychology, University of Michigan*

Dr. Cokley is an award-winning psychologist and professor whose research dismantles the myth of intellectual indifference and inferiority among Black and minoritized students. His current research focuses on imposter phenomenon and its relationship to mental health and academic outcomes among minoritized students.

Undergraduate Discussion

Dr. Cokley will also host a discussion for undergraduate students, Confronting Imposter Phenomenon, at 2:30PM.

Please share the following link with your students.

bit.ly/undergradreg24